Games on ROBLOX have many different settings, including combat, customization settings, scenery design, etc. Several games that are featured on ROBLOX have different levels of rules, from the extremely basic "No Rules" or "Give and Take" settings to "No Kill" settings. The more difficult options create a more immersive experience for the players. For example, some games' settings can only be changed by the current owner, while other games have custom-made tools that allow players to modify it at will.[35]

On December 15th, 2018, ROBLOX announced the end of the open beta for their new trading system. The company removed the ability to trade in-game currency among users and limited users' ability to purchase system currency from outside sources while adding even more security features by requiring cards or other forms of identification before buying virtual currency. The reason for the change was to prevent users from spending too much virtual currency on outside purchases of no value to the user. The system was a success, reducing the rate of fraud.[25]

On August 15, 2017 (12:00 PM), ROBLOX released a new website design. This redesign adds a many features and improvements such as new search function, expanded news section, easier access to games and groups/communities, expanded mobile version of the site, ability to message anyone on the website regardless of whether they are a user or staff/trade with users without the need to add them first (members must have this feature enabled), expanded trades panel with detailed card information, ability to cancel trades before they are completed when there are no funds involved on either side of the trade to prevent scams that involve giving out items for free and getting items or money in return but never giving back the items that were given.

ROBLOX classifies its users as members in its Terms of Use. As a member, ROBLOX reserves the right to collect and share personal information, including member account data, e-mail addresses for communication with users such as surveys, notices about the service or changes to the Terms of Use or Privacy Policy, etc., IP addresses and cookies.[2] According to their Privacy Policy, ROBLOX may disclose personal information such as member account data to third parties in order to comply with legal obligations or prevent any illegal activity.

Roblox allows its players to promote their games on other websites such as Fiverr and UpWork. American citizens have to file an extension if their promoted games are relevant to them, but the rest of the world does not.
